General Exam Disclosures

- Thermography is a no-contact, non-invasive procedure. You will be imaged with a state-of-the-art infrared camera in a comfortable, private, temperature-controlled room by a highly-trained technician.
- The value of thermography as a screening tool is its ability to measure skin temperature changes. Thermal imaging should be correlated with other medical investigative methods to better direct definitive testing for diagnosis and treatment. Your thermal imaging report will provide information about your current condition only and does not diagnose disease.
- I understand that the report generated from my images is intended for use by a trained health care provider to assist in evaluation and treatment. I further understand that the report is not intended to be used by myself for self-evaluation or self-diagnosis. I understand that the report will not tell me whether I have any illness, disease or condition, but will be an analysis of the images with respect only to the thermographic findings discussed in the report.

Breast Exam Disclosures

- Breast thermography is a no-contact, non-invasive procedure. Thermography offers information that no other procedure can provide regarding breast health. Breast thermography does not diagnose breast disease.
- Breast thermography is not a replacement for or alternative to mammography or any other form of breast imaging. Breast thermography and mammography are complementary procedures; one test does not replace the other. Studies show that clients benefit when breast thermography is used in addition to other tests or procedures. This multimodal approach includes breast self-examinations, breast exams by a doctor, mammography, ultrasound, MRI and other tests that may be ordered by your doctor.
- Interpretation of the temperature variations captured and recorded by the infrared camera used during breast thermography does not in any way suggest diagnosis and/or treatment.
- While a finding reported as “Thermographically Significant” does not specifically indicate the presence of disease, any such finding will be accompanied with a strong and intentional recommendation for further clinical evaluation. If you detect a lump or any other change in your breast before your next thermogram, consult your doctor immediately.
- Notice to patients presenting with previously diagnosed cancer: Thermography interpretation does not include information or recommendations related to the measured changes of disease beyond skin temperature changes and patterns. As there is no single known test capable of monitoring all biological influences of the complex disease generally diagnosed as cancer, continued monitoring with available testing as recommended by your personal physician is strongly advised.
- Your thermographer is a highly-skilled technician, not a licensed medical professional. Your thermographer cannot interpret your images, advise or prescribe care to you based on your images. Your thermographer can ask health history questions as well as educate you on general breast health.
